What do you yearn for in your relationships with animals and what do you believe is truly possible for yourself in intuitive interspecies communication? Are you willing to change to bring your dreams into reality? Talking with animals is as much about the little conversations everyday as it is about opening to the bigger ones.

This online event is an invitation for our true selves to live in conscious co-creative relationships with animals this 2023. We will look at clearing beliefs holding us back, nurturing authentic dreaming and then living by inspired action.

The event includes practices for nurturing your vision and a guided activation meditation. In the last 15 minutes there will be time for sharing and Q& A.

Inspiration behind this event

As we grow into our new year I am reminded and captivated again by the wondrous thought, what if we lived our lives pulled forward by our love, passion and vision rather than pushed, often in all directions by our past and our pain? What does it really mean to live by our greater vision and what does it take to do this? Especially as we enter the Chinese New Year of the Water Rabbit which is all about prosperity and manifestation, it's important to be very rooted in what types abundance we wish for ourselves.

Like a cell unfolding into its mature identity as a part of the whole body, there is a soul whispering its vision within all of us. It knows our true nature. By supporting our authentic visions we set off a chain of actions and reactions, synchronicities and new opportunities that guide the spark of desire to become the flame of experience.

As many of you know, visioning and future life progression has greatly influenced my life. It has helped me grow as an animal communicator and it's something I play with all the time in my own life. It's also something I use in helping animals daily to become their true selves beyond fears, sadness and anxiety. Living with vision is subtly different to mind over matter. I experience it more as invitation to my soul and a co-creative relating with all of nature. It's a belief that what's good for me is good for the whole and in turn what's really good for my animal friends is good for me too. It's about believing in an essence of love which manifests infinite possibilities for beauty, peace and joy. Invaluable in this process is honest self-reflection and taking powerful actions. These two steps of inner work are essential skills in developing clear communication with animals, which is why I am starting off teaching this year with a live online training to support stepping into our dreams with authenticity and integrity.

Guidelines for your best experience from this event

- please arrive on time, we will start with a guided meditation
- be in a quiet comfortable space where you will not be disturbed
- take a few moments of quiet before the event opens to centre yourself in being present from the very beginning, even if this means just 3 deep breaths
- and super important - ask your animals to help you in bringing your dreams to reality. They may be physically with you or doing their own thing, in communication we are connecting as souls with animals which is beyond our rational idea of time and space.
